The Winter Exam Breakfast is the ultimate Methodist College study break. A night full of food, laughs, and prizes, what more could a student ask for?

Upholding tradition, the exam breakfast was held on Reading Day, the day intending for intense study for the coming exams; most students just sleep or celebrate the imminent end of the semester in their own ways.

Prizes were won with a raffle that lasted all night and through team competitions involving sugary cereals.

Breakfast favorites of french toast and warm danishes were served alongside the breakfast staples of scrambled eggs, sausage, bacon, and biscuits.

The Place to be on

MC Late Night is hosted almost every Wednesday evening by SAC, Student Activities Committee. Led by Duane Grooms, SAC hosts a multitude of events from movie nights, open mic nights, homecoming, talent shows and more.

Bowling Night is probably the most popular MC Late Night event because of the free bowling and the possibility of winning money.

The MC Late Night Lip Sync Competition brought a multitude of “celebrities” to the Methodist College stage. With Dr. Evan Bridenstine, Assistant Dean William Walker, and senior Matt Seals judging, the night was full of fun, laughs and unexpected surprises. Besides the winners of the competition, another honorable mention goes to Remille Shipman for his rollicking performance of “Chopseuy.”

by RHA and SGA

Costume contests, turkey legs, and fortune tellers were the highlights of this year's OktoberFest. Becoming a tradition for the Residence Hall Association, Methodist's OktoberFest celebrates their version of the German festival with rootbeer kegs and sausages.

This year's festival was a joint effort between RHA and the Student Government Association, which combined the usual Halloween dance with OktoberFest creating OktoberFest Halloween Style.

Pictured left are the contestants for the costume contest. Notable entries include Lois DeVico as a Chik Fila cow, with face paint and an "Eet Mor Chikin" sign, as well as Amber Smith's gothic Alice of "Alice in Wonderland," and Daniel Rosser's Bam Bam from "the Flintstones." Danielle Burdyck and her daughter Sierra Burdyck took the prize with their own version of a pumpkin patch.

Powder Puff winners, the Backyard "Ladies," celebrate their victory.

Two of the many traditions of the Methodist College Homecoming celebrations are the Powder Puff football game and the BonFire, both hosted this year by the Residence Hall Association.

This year's Powder Puff football game pitted the Hitta Hoes against the Backyard "Ladies." It was a tough match, with both teams giving their best, but the Backyard "Ladies" eventually prevailed.

The BonFire was a evening full of Monarch spirit hosted by local radio station Foxy 99 and featuring performances by the cheerleaders and the Monarch Dancers.

The Monarch football team successfully beat the Christopher Newport Captains 35 to 28 at Methodist's Homecoming football game.

Homecoming is an important event at Methodist college bringing together current students, family, and alumni. It could also be considered the ultimate presentation of Monarch Pride.

"Breaking New Ground" was the theme for this year's homecoming festivities. It was chosen due to Methodist's success in fundraising for the new science building, fitness and wellness center, and residence hall.

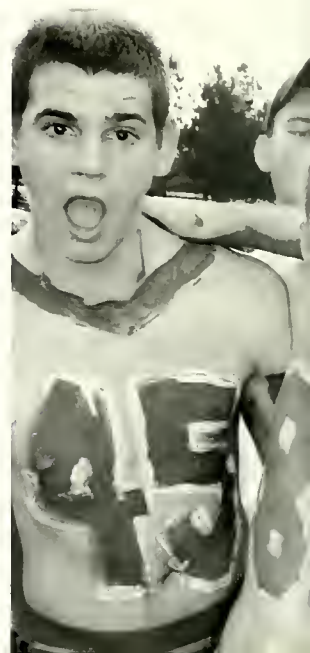

Homecoming was also dedicated to the memory of Reverend Dr. William Lowdermilk, a long time faculty member and donor to the college.

Men's and women's basketball teams play against each other to kick off the basketball season.

Hoopla Frenzy honored the late Chris Ryan on October 26. At the beginning of the event, the Ryan family was recognized and presented t-shirts by Coach DeeDee Jarman and Coach David Smith.

The purpose of Hoopla Frenzy is to introduce the members of the cheer-leading squad, dance team, men's basketball teams and the women's basketball team.

The Student Activities Committee helped to make the event a memorable one by having hoop shooting games, throwing out lots of t-shirts, and offering water and candy to the students as they entered the gym.

SAC also handed out tickets for a chance to win $1000. The participant had to make a lay-up, free throw, three point, and half court shot in twenty-four seconds in order to claim the prize. Regrettably the participant with the winning ticket number did not win, but he gave a valiant effort.

The cheerleaders spiced it up with cheers getting the crowd excited and then displayed an impressive array of high flying stunts. The dance team performed several upbeat numbers and even joined the cheerleaders for a routine.

Hoopla Frenzy allowed the students to meet their 2005-2006 teams and to spread the excitement about MC athletics.

The Outdoor Adventure Club, O.A.C., and Campus Recreation and Intramural Program, C.R.I.M.P., are headed by Mike "Coach Sink" Sinkovitz. This club and organization allow students to step out of their boxes and try something new in a safe environment.

Students are taken on trips to different places around the United States and the Caribbean, as well as on high adventure trips like white water rafting and sky diving.

Bring your popcorn and grab some couch, Methodist College presents recently released movies for free! That's and even better price than Omni!

Once a month on a Friday night the Student Activities Committee shows on the big screen films not yet released on DVD for the students in the Lion's Den. By serving hot dogs and other munchies along with the movie, they call it "Movie and a Meal."

Second showings are on the following Sunday at Chris's House.

Open Mic Night is like our own little cabaret lounge at Methodist.

Hosted three or four times a semester by the Student Activities Committee, Open Mic Night is an opportunity for students to express themselves and their individuality.

Students perform original and popular pieces, whether it be through guitar and song, like those pictured in the upper left hand corner, or through a more written expression of poetry and prose, like the picture in the bottom left hand corner.

Mr. Methodist

The second annual Mr. Methodist Pageant was held at 8:00 p.m. on January 29, 2006, in Reeves Auditorium.

The crowd cheered as Corey Rose, sponsored by the Methodist College ROTC program, was crowned "Mr. Methodist."

"The show was fun, enjoyable, memorable, and tough. If sponsored again, I would do this next year," Rose said.

Contestants from all over the campus battled their way to be titled "Mr. Methodist." They were put to the test in many areas including formalwear, talent, sportswear, and also question and answer.

Cheryle Rivas, Methodist College's director of college relations and marketing, was the host. There were also performances by the Monarch Dancers, Lady T, and Chrissy Byrd, the reigning princess of North Carolina. Even smallTALK Stu was there to present the awards.

Food, music, and good time are the essence of the Mardi Gras Celebrations.

A bit of purple was added to our traditional green and gold at the colorful and lavish celebration before Lent known as Mardi Gras. This tradition celebrates justice, faith, and power. At Methodist, we celebrate with food, friends, and music.

Hosted by the Student Government Association on March 1, 2006 as an MC Late Night, many students danced the night away.

Free pizza, subs, and drinks were served, among other goodies.

Miss Red Black

The local fraternity Phi Alpha Gamma hosted the Miss Red Black and Gold pageant, where female Methodist College students compete to be crowned Miss Red Black and Gold.

For the fraternity, the colors of red, black, and gold stand for brotherhood, power, and high standards.

The women competed in categories of sleepwear, formal wear, and business attire. An opening number was choreographed by Mia Armstrong.

Miss Red Black and Gold winner Heather Schneider was crowned by the reigning Miss Red Black and Gold Keva Wilson.

The Redneck Olympics was the Residence Hall Association's annual spring event. A blast for all who attended, the basketball courts were littered with a wide array of cowboy hats and bandanas.

Highlights included rides on the mechanical bull, dunking fellow students and staff into the dunk tank, and country line dancing taught by students Corey Rose and Melanie Ice.

Cotton candy and snow cones, served by various RHA members and volunteering staff, were the food of choice for the evening.

Austin Takes Monarch Baseball to New Heights

The Methodist College baseball program has been traditionally one of the nation's elite in NCAA Division III. In the program's 36-year history, the Monarchs have tallied a 1,004-358-9 record, including 47 post-season wins. Since 1990, the Monarchs have posted 488 victories, which is the 12th most among all NCAA Division III member institutions.

Individually, 35 Monarchs have received All-American honors while playing on the pristine turf at Shelley Field and a Methodist baseball player has been on the Academic All-American team on three different occasions. On top of that, veteran head coach Tom Austin ranks sixth all-time in victories at the NCAA Division III level with a mark of 818-324-8 in 26 seasons at Methodist. Under Austin, Methodist has recorded 25-victory-or-better seasons for 24 straight years.

Coach Smith leads the boys into Monarch Basketball's 43rd Consecutive Season

The Methodist Monarch men's basketball team is entering its 43rd season in inter-collegiate competition as it was one of the school's inaugural three sports in 1963.

Overall, Methodist has been one of the most successful programs in the history of the USA South Athletic Conference. The Monarchs have won 10 regular season conference championships, including championships in 2003, 2004, and 2005. In addition, Methodist has won seven conference tournament championships with five NCAA Division III National Tournament appearances.

In the 1996-97 season, the Monarchs posted their banner year with a 22-8 overall record and advanced to the "Elite Eight" of the NCAA Division III National Tournament. The 22 victories was a single-season school record for victories and included a Division III national record stretch of 20 straight victories.

Individual honors include 54 All-Conference honors as well as one NCAA Division III South Region Player of the Year, three NCAA Division III All-Americans, two conference Players of the Year, one conference Rookie of the Year, nine conference Coach of the Year honors, and one Region Coach of the Year.

Is There Anything These Monarch Ladies Can't Do?

The Methodist College women's basketball team has surged into the top of the pack of NCAA Division III South Region teams as the Lady Monarchs have captured at least a share of three Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference regular season titles, have won three DIAC Tournament championships and advanced to two NCAA Division III National Tournaments.

The Lady Monarchs posted at least 16 wins in six straight campaigns from 1997-2003 with the school's best record coming in the 1991-92 season when Methodist posted a 22-6 mark. Under current head coach DeeDee Jarman, the Lady Monarchs have won an impressive 66 percent of their games.

Individually, the Lady Monarchs have totaled 25 All-Conference selections, one DIAC Player of the Year honor, and a pair of DIAC Coach of the Year honors.

If Monarch's Could Fly...

Cheerleading at Methodist College is a challenging and rewarding sport. Each individual works hard to learn new and difficult skills while the coach actively promotes safety. Methodist is known for its clean, creative, and innovative style, which highlights each individual's talents in every team performance.

While the squad enjoys competing at NCA Nationals in Daytona Beach, Florida, their first priority is promoting Methodist College athletics and representing the college as a whole. These young men and women have one goal in mind, to generate spirit and crowd involvement at Methodist College. In addition to cheering for football and men's and women's basketball games, the team performs at various functions, conducts clinics, participates in numerous community service projects in North Carolina, and consistently qualifies and competes in the NCA/NDA College Cheer and Dance National Championships each year.

Vaulting, Hurling and Running, Oh My!

Under the direction of new head coach Matthew Hayes and with a solid state of the art facility, the Methodist College men's and women's track & field program is making strides to become a NCAA Division III national contender.

Methodist competes as members of the Mason-Dixon Conference, which holds the distinction as the nation's oldest track and field conference. The Monarchs and Lady Monarchs compete in both an indoor and outdoor season for both men and women.

The Methodist men's and women's track & field program has produced four individual NCAA Division III national champions as well as 41 All-Americans.

Run That Ball Monarchs

Methodist College began playing football in 1989 and will be entering its 18th season of intercollegiate competition beginning in 2006. Additionally, the 2006 season will mark the fifth season of USA South Athletic Conference (formerly Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) football competition with the regular-season champion earning a bid to the NCAA Division III playoffs. Methodist has produced 17 All-Americans under head coach Jim Syputt (73-66 in 14 seasons).

In 1997, the Monarchs won a school-record nine games and ended the season ranked #24 nationally in the final Division III polls. Last season (2005), the Monarchs finished 8-2 overall and 6-1 in the USA South for a share of their first ever USA South championship. Entering the 2006 season, Methodist has tallied seven-win seasons in five of the past nine seasons and has recorded a .500 or better season in nine of the last 12 years!

Monarch Men's Golf Takes a Swing at the Big Time

The Methodist College men's golf team has a long and storied tradition of excellence. The Monarchs have made 26 consecutive appearances in the NCAA Division III National Championships. Including last season's fourth-place finish at the NCAA Division III National Tournament, the Monarchs have finished in the nation's top five for 19 consecutive years. That streak includes nine NCAA Division III National Championships, and six consecutive from 1994-99, the most of any Division III school.

Methodist has produced nine NCAA Division III Individual National Champions since 1989. In addition, 75 Monarch golfers have been tabbed as Golf Coaches Association of America All-Americans since 1980 and 12 have been named as GCAA Academic All-Americans.

The Monarchs also have a total of 26 Dixie Intercollegiate and USA South Athletic Conference championships, including a streak of nine consecutive from 1993 to 2001. Additionally, the Methodist men's golf program has been featured in national publications such as Sports Illustrated and Golfweek.

Located on the Methodist College campus is a private 18-hole golf course near the Cape Fear River, a 17-acre driving range with 50+ stations (eight covered), and three short-game practice areas.

Women's Golf Swinging in Skirts

The Methodist College women's golf program has been the dominant force in small college golf in recent years.

Methodist has won nine consecutive NCAA Division III National Championships with the first two being in a combined Division II and III combined format. Since the program's inaugural season in 1986 to 1995, the Lady Monarchs claimed nine out of 10 National Golf Coaches Association National Championships. Since the NCAA began governing the women's golf championships in 1996, the Lady Monarchs have won nine out of 11 national championships, including this year's NCAA Division III title.

Methodist has produced 70 All-Americans, nine Individual National Champions, eight NGCA Players of the Year, 17 NGCA All-Scholar Athletes, and three GTE Academic All-Americans.

Additionally, the Methodist women's golf program has been featured in national publications such as Sports Illustrated for Women and Golfweek.

Lacrosse Brings the Heat in the 06' Season

The Methodist College women's lacrosse team became the school's 19th intercollegiate sport (10th for women) in the spring of 2002. The Methodist lacrosse program is the southern-most NCAA Division III women's program in the country.

In 2006 the Monarchs set a school record for victories, finishing 11-4. They finished second in the nation in scoring, averaging over 16 goals per game.

With head coach Beth Brundage in control and a talented nucleus returning, the championship fortunes should continue for Methodist's newest program.

The Monarch Men's Soccer Program Kicks it Into High Gear

The Methodist Men's Soccer program has been a long-standing tradition in the rich history of Methodist athletics. Methodist men's soccer has produced eight All-Americans, 38 All-South selections, 117 All-Conference selections, and nine professional players worldwide. Under former head coach Alan Dawson, the Monarchs were the 1995 NCAA Division III National Runner-up and have advanced to the NCAA tournament six times in the 1990s. The Monarchs also held eight consecutive Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference Conference titles from 1989-1996.

The Methodist College men's soccer program boasts a long list of individual and team accomplishments and has a winning tradition that is envied by many. Our team's home is the "Crown Jewel" of NCAA Division III — Monarch Soccerplex — a soccer facility that is unrivaled in the country. The Monarch soccer offices are located on the touchline of our pristine Bermuda grass playing surface. The two-story building houses home and visiting team locker rooms, referee changing facilities, an enclosed press box, and public restrooms. In addition, there is a $1.5 million, eight-field soccer complex on the Methodist campus that is ideal for training.

Running, Kicking, Scoring the Lady Monarchs Do it All

Formed in 1984, the Methodist College women's soccer program has proven itself as a regional and national power in just a short amount of time. The Lady Monarchs have established a 254-146-22 slate while boasting winning records during all but four seasons. The run includes 10 Dixie Intercollegiate/USA South Athletic Conference crowns, eight NCAA tournament appearances, four South Region titles, four Final Four appearances, and one NCAA Division III national championship runner-up finish (1995).

In addition, Methodist has also produced 84 All-Conference honorees, 34 All-Division III South Region selections, 22 NCAA Division III All-Americans, and nine Academic All-Americans.

The Lady Monarchs' home facility - Monarch Soccerplex - is known as one of the premier facilities in NCAA Division III. The 2,000 square foot complex was built and opened in the spring of 1990 and includes a two story air-conditioned press box with two locker rooms, observation/video platform, referee changing facilities, and public restrooms.

SOFTBALL

It's Going, Going, Gone

Since head coach Ron Simpson took over the reins of the Methodist College softball team seven years ago, the Monarchs have emerged as one of the South's elite NCAA Division III programs. The Monarchs have captured four Dixie Intercollegiate/USA South Athletic Conference regular-season titles, one DIAC Tournament Championship and three bids to NCAA post-season play.

In 2000, the Monarchs finished third in the NCAA Division III Atlantic Regional, and followed that with a runner-up finish against Emory in 2003. The 2003 season marked the best season in the history of fast-pitch softball at Methodist as the Monarchs posted the best record in program history (38-10), set a school record for victories in a season and finished 13th in the final NCAA Division III national poll. Methodist has posted a 217-98-2 mark over the last seven seasons, including a span of seven consecutive 25-win seasons. During that time, the Monarchs have placed 38 players on the All-Conference teams, 23 All-South Region selections, three conference Player of the Year honors, three conference Coach of the Year honors, three conference Rookie of the Year honors, and the school's second and third NCAA Division III All-Americans in softball.

The Lady Monarchs play on one of the South's finest softball facilities, Monarch Field. Monarch Field has a top-notch playing surface surrounded by covered dugouts, batting cages, bullpens, press box, and a seating capacity of 400.

You Have Got to LOVE Monarch Men's Tennis

During the past decade, the Methodist College men's tennis program has proven itself a regional and national power. The Monarchs are members of the NCAA Division III and the USA South Athletic Conference (formerly Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference). The team plays competitive fall and spring schedules against top NCAA Division I, II, III and NAIA programs. Last season, the Monarchs captured the USA South Athletic Conference regular season championship, marking the school's 10th conference title.

Individual accolades for Methodist over the past 13 years include 77 All-Conference honorees, 13 All-NCAA Division III South Region Selections, four NCAA Division III All-Americans, one Methodist College Scholar Student-Athlete, and four Intercollegiate Tennis Association Academic All-Americans.

Showing Some Love to the Monarchs Women's Tennis Team

The Methodist College women's tennis program has emerged as a force in the South Region after claiming 11 Dixie Intercollegiate/USA South Athletic Conference championships in the last 15 seasons, including this past season's regular-season and tournament championships. The Lady Monarchs are ready to make another run for the title this season, as they return seven players from last year's squad. In addition, five highly recruited freshmen will bring great depth to the team this year for new head coach Francie Barragan.

The Lady Monarchs Tennis program has experienced tremendous success in the past. The 2002 team broke many records, by earning the school's second-ever NCAA Division III National Tournament team appearance after earning a school-best #17 national ranking. Over the past five years, the Methodist women's tennis program has won five straight Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference/USA South Athletic Conference championships, five individual national championships (ITA and NCAA), earned nine All-American honors and three NCAA Division III National Tournament appearances.

CROSS COUNTRY

Running for the Green and Gold

Competing in cross country at Methodist College ensures that student-athletes have a support group right off the bat—their team! As a sport where there are no tryouts or cuts, cross country welcomes athletes into their college experience by giving everyone an opportunity to participate and improve. We also provide the training and support for those runners wishing to compete on the national level. In 2004 and 2005 a Methodist student-athlete won the USA South Individual Conference Championship. Whether you are an all-state runner or someone that just wants to compete athletically in college—Methodist College is right for you!

For the first few weeks, both men and women compete at the 5K (3.1 miles). However, as the season progresses, the men's race extends to 8K (5 miles). Most meets that the Monarchs participate in are in North Carolina. Cross country has the distinction of competing for two conference championships, the Mason-Dixon Conference as well as the USA South Athletic Conference.

Serving Up Victory

Since head coach Ron Simpson took over the reins of the Methodist College softball team seven years ago, the Monarchs have emerged as one of the South's elite NCAA Division III programs. The Monarchs have captured four Dixie Intercollegiate/USA South Athletic Conference regular-season titles, one DIAC Tournament Championship and three bids to NCAA post-season play.

Methodist has posted a 217-98-2 mark over the last seven seasons, including a span of seven consecutive 25-win seasons. During that time, the Monarchs have placed 38 players on the All-Conference teams, 23 All-South Region selections, three conference Player of the Year honors, three conference Coach of the Year honors, three conference Rookie of the Year honors, and the school's second and third NCAA Division III All-Americans in softball.

academics

Junior Jessica Hutzal receives her cords while being inducted into the Alpha Chi honor society. Gertrude Stein, as played by sophomore Tara Doyle, points out to Pearl White, as played by junior Laura Lester, that she is not sitting in her proper seat in the play "Chamber Music." Students are busy typing away on their papers in the library during finals week.

Left, The Man in White, played by Dr. Evan Bridenstine, menacingly warns the ladies of the ward to behave.

Arthur Kopit's directed by Paul Wilson

Chamber Music

Arthur Kopit's "Chamber Music," directed by Dr. Paul F. Wilson, was a huge success with Methodist. The theatre department produced a fantastic play with an amazing cast.

The play itself was rather short, but it was opened with a monologue, written by Christopher Durang, performed by Marianne Parker as Mrs. Sorkin discussing etymology of the word "drama."

The premise of the plot is that several of the women in an insane asylum get together to discuss problems within their ward.

Each woman, however, believes she is a famous person, but does not believe the other women are the famous people they claim to be. For example, Amelia Earhart and Susan B. Anthony are present at the meeting.

The play had a few comic scenes, but for the most part, it was a sad irony. At the end of the play, the other women at the meeting murder Amelia Earhart, played by Melanie Gibson.

This is extremely ironic because Earhart is the sanest person in the ward.

The other women present at the meeting include Mrs. Mozart played by Keva Wilson, Susan B. Anthony played by Natallia Yesaulenka, Osa Johnson played by Heather Gilroy, Isabella of Castile played by Kaisha Ahye, Joan of Arc played by Samantha Gamble, Pearl White played by Laura Lester, and Gertrude Stein played by Tara Doyle.

Other cast members include The Man in White and his assistant played by Dr. Evan Bridenstine and Chase Hayes respectively.

The play was an altogether thought-provoking work. It was very well performed, and each member of the cast gave a spectacular performance.

"Little Shop of Horrors" was awesome. Each cast member brought their character to life with an explosive energy, making the show fantastic.

The Methodist College Department of Theatre and Music presented "Little Shop of Horrors," directed by Evan M. Bridenstine, Feb. 23 to 26 at 8 p.m. and 2 p.m. on Sunday at Reeves Auditorium.

The story begins in Mushnik's plant shop with Seymour, played by Randall Spells, sharing a new and unusual plant he found. Audrey, played by Courtney Shumacher, and Mushnik, played by Nick Kimps, are skeptical of the unusual plant until it starts bringing new business to the shop.

Great things begin to happen to Seymour as the plant grows, but the only thing that makes the plant grow is blood- human blood. This scenario sets the scene for many comical, yet slightly tragic, events leaving the audience with a warning: "Whatever they offer you, don't feed the plants!"

The rotating set presented Skid Row and the front door of Mushnik's plant shop, and then rotated to show the inside of the plant shop.

Bridenstine's direction was great, utilizing every part of the stage and beyond. The platforms in front of the stage brought the action that much closer.

The orchestra, conducted by Betty Neill Guy Parsons, was a perfect compliment to the performances onstage.

One audience member said this was one of the best shows he had ever seen at Methodist. I definitely agree.
